Man Coughs and Breaks Ribs.

After a frightful coughing spell a man in Neenah, Wis., felt terrible pains in his side and his doctor found two ribs had been broken. What agony Dr. King's New Discovery would have saved him. A few teaspoonfuls ends a late cough, while persistent use routs obstinate coughs, expels stubborn colds or heals weak, sore lungs. "I feel sure it's a God send to humanity," writes Mrs. Elie Morton, Columbia, Mo., "for I believe I would have consumption to-day, if I had not used this great remedy." It's guaranteed to satisfy, and you can get a free trial bottle or 50-cent or $1.00 size at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

ABOUT THE STATE

Happenings of Interest From Different Sections.

Smallpox is prevalent in the north part of Underhill. Several hay stacks exposed and a strict quarantine is maintained.

Mrs. Leonard H. Shaw of Burlington set 13 eggs under a hen and hatched 13 chickens. One of the chickens has four legs, two in the usual place, on extending from the breast and one from the back.

A four-day session beginning last Friday was held at Highgate Springs by Y. M. C. A. and Christian Endeavor societies of Canada. There were 80 present from all parts of eastern Canada. It was voted to make the meeting an annual affair to be held at this season of the year.

Frank Frederick and Sarah Abare, both married, but not to each other, the Plattsburgh couple who eloped to Burlington recently, pleaded guilty and were sentenced to state's prison, the man for not less than 18 months or more than two years and the woman for not less than one year or more than fifteen months.

Important additions to the art gallery in the museum of the university of Vermont are three oil paintings presented by Mrs. L. C. Clarke. Two of them are of Lake George and Lake Champlain and were painted by Cassi, and the third is a fine portrait of a St. Bernard dog watching a child in a cradle. This latter painting is by Dolph.

Traveling libraries in the state now number 125, and the majority are in constant circulation from one school to another. Nine new stations were established during May. The work of the state library commission has been published much in the past few years in stimulating Vermont people to better reading and more of it.

After oil had been put on the Bennington streets as a dust layer, an indignation meeting was held before the board of trustees, at the request of citizens whose property was damaged by the dust. The board of trustees, at the request of the citizens, has agreed to have the streets washed, the dust being washed off with the oil. It was thought the oil was too heavy to sink into the ground, as it mixed with chunks of the dust and was tracked everywhere. It was later found out that the trouble was with the condition of the streets at the time of oiling and several loads of sand were put on the worst places to remedy the troubles.

W. H. M. U. MEETING.

Mrs. W. J. Van Patten of Burlington Re-elected President.

The twenty-fourth annual meeting of the Congregational Woman's Home Missionary union of Vermont was held in Swanton Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, with a good attendance. Interesting addresses were given throughout the session by members of the state organization, with several outside speakers. Miss Lydia A. Finger of Boston speaking Tuesday evening. She is the secretary of the board of home missions. In the evening Mrs. Lawrence Thurston of China gave an address on "The New Day in China," and Rev. R. L. Reed of New York spoke on "The Immigrant." Wednesday, Mr. Reed spoke on "The Unmet Religious Needs of the Great West," and Miss Finger gave an address.

Honorary presidents were elected: Woodstock, Mrs. Rebecca P. Fairbanks of St. Johnsbury; president Mrs. W. J. Van Patten of Burlington; first vice-president, Mrs. E. D. Burditt of Rutland; second vice-president, Mrs. G. H. Cross of St. Johnsbury; recording secretary, Miss W. Parkyn Jackson of St. Albans; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Evan Thomas of Burlington; secretary young people's work, Miss Marion Cary of Rutland; secretary of junior work, Mrs. George C. Fabian of Newbury; treasurer, Mrs. C. H. Thompson of Brattleboro; assistant treasurer, Miss Edith N. Gilkey of Brattleboro; editor Vermont Missionary, Mrs. M. G. Brant of St. Johnsbury; field secretary, vacant; Miss Florence M. Price having resigned on account of ill health, and no successor having been elected.

The following were elected county conference officers:

Addison, Mrs. W. H. Matthews of Cornwall; Bennington, Mrs. E. L. Wyman of Manchester; Calhoun, Mrs. H. F. Balch of St. Johnsbury; Chittenden, Mrs. L. H. Chapin of Jericho Center; Essex, Mrs. W. L. Carpenter of Granby; Franklin and Grand Isle, Mrs. G. H. Gilmore of Jeffersonville; Orange, Mrs. J. M. Comstock of Chelsea; Orleans, Mrs. F. D. Thompson of Barton; Rutland, Miss E. L. Manley of Plattsburgh; Washington, Mrs. M. F. Stone of Montpelier; Windham, Miss F. N. Pettigill of Saxtons River; Windsor, Miss H. E. Hatch of Woodstock; Union, Mrs. G. W. Clarke of Woodstock.

FLEETWOOD FOR CHAIRMAN

Of Republican State Convention, Johnson for Chairman of Resolutions Com.

The Vermont Republican state committee has selected as temporary chairman of the Republican state convention, Frederick G. Fleetwood of Morrisville and as chairman of the committee on resolutions, Luther B. Johnson of Randolph. The committee have asked Mr. Johnson to prepare a tentative platform to be offered for publication to all of the newspapers in the state hereafter. In order that there may be an opportunity for suggestions, criticisms and discussions of the various matters proposed, and the committee will ask the full committee on resolutions to be composed of one member selected from each county, to meet with Mr. Johnson the evening of June 26, at Burlington, at which meeting all suggestions made by members of the Republican party will be duly considered and a full and free discussion had of all matters which may be suggested as proper to be considered by the convention as the platform of the Republican party of Vermont.

The Republican state committee very much desires that the various county conventions should be held after the Republican state convention in order that the platform adopted by the state convention may be properly considered and acted upon by the county conventions.

Some members of past legislatures have claimed that they had no knowledge of party pledges made by the Republican state convention and did not feel in duty bound to assist in carrying out those pledges, and the Republican state committee desires to do all possible to bring the matter of party principles and party platforms to the attention of the Republican voters before the various conventions, so that there may be no chance for misunderstanding in the coming campaign.

BOYS PRACTICE FLYING.

Novel Competition Was Held at White River Junction Saturday.

White River Junction, June 3.—An interesting group of spectators was gathered on the high school grounds Saturday afternoon to witness the competition flights of the aeroplanes made by the Y. M. C. A. boys of this vicinity. It was said to be the first contest of like nature in the state of Vermont. The machines were made entirely by the contestants with the exceptions of the rubber bands for motive power. The machines were made entirely by the contestants. Each boy was given three trials. Two prizes were offered by the Windsor county Y. M. C. A. committee, the first, a silver loving cup, went to Robert Smith on a 2227-foot flight. The second prize, a most of the hatchet, was awarded to Harold Urie on a 50-foot flight. About nine machines were entered in the contest but a much larger number of boys have been engaged for weeks past in making like machines.

LIGNITE PRODUCTION INCREASES.

Figures of the United States Geological Survey Show the Production of More Than Half a Million Tons in 1911.

The production of coal in North Dakota in 1911, according to figures obtained by E. W. Parker and made public by the United States geological survey, was 592,628 short tons, valued at $729,489. This is the first time in the history of the state that the production has amounted to more than half a million short tons. North Dakota was one of the few western states whose production in 1911 exceeded that of 1910, whereas in 1910 it had been the one state of the Rocky mountain great plains provinces that showed a decrease. The production in 1911 exceeded that of 1910 by 103,287 short tons, or 25.96 per cent, in quantity, and by $125,350, or 21.06 per cent, in value.

The total production of coal in North Dakota and the increase in 1911 over 1910 are not really great importance when compared with the output of coal from the other states, east or west, yet both are significant as indicating considerable success in the efforts to utilize this local fuel resource, which is of low grade compared with the coals from other states that are brought into competition with it.

Can Supply Local Demand.

The development and utilization of the lignites of North Dakota, as of Texas, must depend on relatively local markets, for as they disintegrate rapidly on exposure to the atmosphere they do not bear long transportation and must be used a short time after being mined. Lignite is not a high-grade fuel and on account of its large moisture content does not reach high temperatures in combustion. It is therefore undesirable for steam raising, though it can be used for that purpose in specially constructed furnaces with large grate areas. It does, however, serve fairly well for a domestic fuel where other coals are obtainable only at a high price. It has also been found, on account of its smokeless and sootless qualities, well adapted for burning brick, one of the few manufacturing industries of North Dakota, and considerable quantities are burned each year in brick kilns at Dickinson, Serranito and Kenmare.
